

Saturday - Shilpa feels the stress

Sunday, 07 January 2007

Tensions are rising in the Big Brother house between Shilpa and Jackie. Even Jade's intervention is not really helping the issue, but Shilpa remains calm and composed throughout the entire ordeal.

Saturday - Shilpa feels the stress

After a disruptive night, Shilpa woke up to her new housemates, Jade Goodie and her family. She has met her previous housemates as servants and found it a harrowing experience seeing them having to work so hard and not get any food.

As Head Butler Carole, led her troop into the Manor to meet Jade's family for the first time, Shilpa burst into tears at the sight of her servants. However, the Bollywood babe brushed it off with the classic: "I've got something in my eye!"

Then it was time for Jade to introduce the Family - real and adopted. After struggling to remember Jermaine and Shilpa's names, Jade finally managed to muster, "And this is the beloved... erm, Uncle Ken." Seems Shilpa's Indian manners have rubbed onto Jade in no time! However, things did not remain so pleasant as Jade's mum Jackie has been barking orders and mispronouncing Shilpa's name continuously. Shilpa, irked at the mispronunciations and at the treatment of her former housemates, had a word with Jackie which led to the first rift in the BB house.

Jade sided with Shilpa (or Princess as she's now being known as), but a divide is clear with Jackie even rejecting a peace-offering from Shilpa. Leo tried to cut the tension and even told BB about the problem between Shilpa and Jackie but it seems volatile tensions between the two are set to explode soon with Shilpa confessing if she knew more about the BB experience she wouldn't have signed up for it. She's tough and getting through more than some of the others while putting up with a lot and she's up for eviction with the rest of her new family, vote to keep her in...

Text SHILPA to 84466 - (Texts cost 50p, plus std msg rate)

Call 09011 32 33 14 - (Calls cost 50p, mobile and other network rates may vary)

10p from every vote will go to charity